

chevron supports COVID-19 relief in Kazakhstan

Minimizing the impact of a global health crisis demands partnership with the people and communities where we operate. Here are some of the ways Chevron has mobilized to help Kazakhstan recover from the COVID-19 pandemic.

400,000

sets of personal protective equipment (PPE) supplied

training

more than 1,500 emergency healthcare responders trained

medical equipment supplied

6 computer tomographs procured for installation in hospitals across the country.
2 ventilators donated to the Almaty Children Infectious Diseases Hospital, trained doctors to use them and guaranteed the machines' maintenance for 3+ years.

14 million+

doses of essential medicines sourced and donated supported

20+ projects

and grants that helped medical workers and communities

1,400

small business consultations and 300 business plans created

food

provided 2,300 food parcels to 3,000+ families in need